NEGRO CAUGHT; CONFESSES ALL ASHOUNDS BAY

Lynching Talked After Capture in Aurora of Woman's Assailant.

BACK TO WHEATON.

Four men used to "rough-housing" animals stood for several hours in front of a cell in the basement of Aurora's town hall and tried by threats, appeal, and persuasion to elicit a confession from Jess Williams, the negro who brutally assaulted and robbed aged Mrs. Francis E. Schwartz in Wheaton on Saturday.

The negro, his eyes bloodshot from a night's debauch, admitted his identity, but stubbornly protected his innocence. During the examination he let slip the fact he had been in Aurora several nights before. Chief of Police Nichols had a "hunch." He stole quietly up the stairs and promptly returned with the two hoodlums, which had been used to trail the Peterson slayer. At the end of the corridor the animals were given a shift of the wooden mitten dropped by the Peterson slayer. The dogs set up a howling and yelping. Williams shivered and snatched the bars in front of the cell.

Chief Nichols, holding the dogs in short leash, ordered them to drag him slowly down the corridor. If they should stop he would shoot. Williams' cell and attempt to escape through the bars then the Peterson slayer's mystery would be solved.

Williams' eyes rolled nervously and he edged toward the rear of the cell as the animals approached. Visions of Uncle Sam's Cabin probably passed before his eyes. He wondered how the dogs had tracked him from Wheaton.

Chief Nichols halted the hounds before the cell door. They did not lunge, but they did yelp. They lifted their heads and barked until the whole jail echoed. When they would pause their tongues would fall out of their mouths and they would look wickedly through the bars at Williams.

Terror Stricken Confesses.
"Get up," shouted Williams. "I give you now. Take 'em away. I did it!"
"What? Killed Emma Peterson?" yelled the chief.
"No," said Williams. "I robbed Mrs. Schwartz."

The ruse had worked, but not as Chief Nichols hoped it out.
The confession was given in the presence of Dr. George W. Schwartz, whose wife was the negro attacked; Sheriff John H. Hoffman, the jailer; Attorney Charles W. Hadley, of Du Page county. Arrangements were made at once to take the prisoner back to Wheaton.

Putting had run high in both Aurora and Wheaton during the day, and it was 10:30 o'clock at night before the negro was bundled into an automobile and whisked to Wheaton under guard of armed deputies.

Two hundred persons took part in a demonstration against Williams as he was being led from the town hall in Aurora, but no effort was made to do him violence.

Ground at Wheaton Filled.
The party arrived in Wheaton at 12:30 o'clock. Twenty-five persons had gathered at the Wheaton station, expecting the negro to be brought back by train, but they were not coming. On the way to Wheaton Dr. J. H. Haack was picked up and the party drove straight to the Schwartz residence, where the negro was led into the room where Mrs. Schwartz lay in bed.

Pastors Demand Voters Purge Aurora of Crime

Three Murders of Girls
in Year Stir Pulpit
Protest.

POLICE ON NEW TRAIL

The three murders at Aurora made the theme for Aurora ministers yesterday in their churches.

From the pulpits pastors exhorted their congregations to use their votes to purge Aurora of conditions, which resulted in the murder of Theresa Hollander, Jennie Miller, and Emma Peterson—all within a year.

Almost all the ministers touched on the Peterson murder in their sermons. They urged the people of the city to use their votes wisely to make Aurora worthy of the name "City of Lights." Efficient city officials, they urged, are necessary to clean up the city. More police were demanded also.

Seek Harry Walters.
While the ministers were calling attention to the conditions in Aurora, Chief Nichols and his detectives continued their search for the slayer of Emma Peterson. Word was sent to the Chicago detective bureau to locate Harry Walters, former manager of lunchrooms in Chicago.

Although Chief Nichols does not believe Walters is in any way implicated in the crime, he desires to inquire from him the names of other young men who kept company with the girl. Walters sent a letter to Miss Peterson a few weeks ago. It was reported by relatives of Miss Peterson that Walters had warned her not to continue receiving the attentions of Peter King, whom she was to marry.

Walters is well known in the Thirty-seventh street district in Chicago. A few years ago he was manager of Powers' lunch room at Thirty-first street and Prairie avenue.

Restaurant Man Saw Him.
He has made his residence in that section of the city. Fred Fisher, manager of the Powers' restaurant at the above address, said he saw Walters in the afternoon at 6:30.

Walters drops in here quite often, Fisher said. "He gets something to eat and passes the time of day. He plays cards with some of the boys around the neighborhood several nights a week."

In Aurora the police found another witness who reported that she saw a man who might be the slayer of Miss Peterson. Mrs. Ora Crissey, proprietor of the Lincoln Cafeteria, where Jennie Miller, who was also slain, took her meals, described a suspiciously acting man, who was in her restaurant a few days ago.

Description of Man.
According to Mrs. Crissey, it was about 7 o'clock on the night of the Peterson murder when the man suspected entered the Lincoln cafeteria at La Salle and Fox streets. He was about 5 feet 8 inches tall, wore an old gray suit, flannel shirt, dark overcoat, and a long dark overcoat.

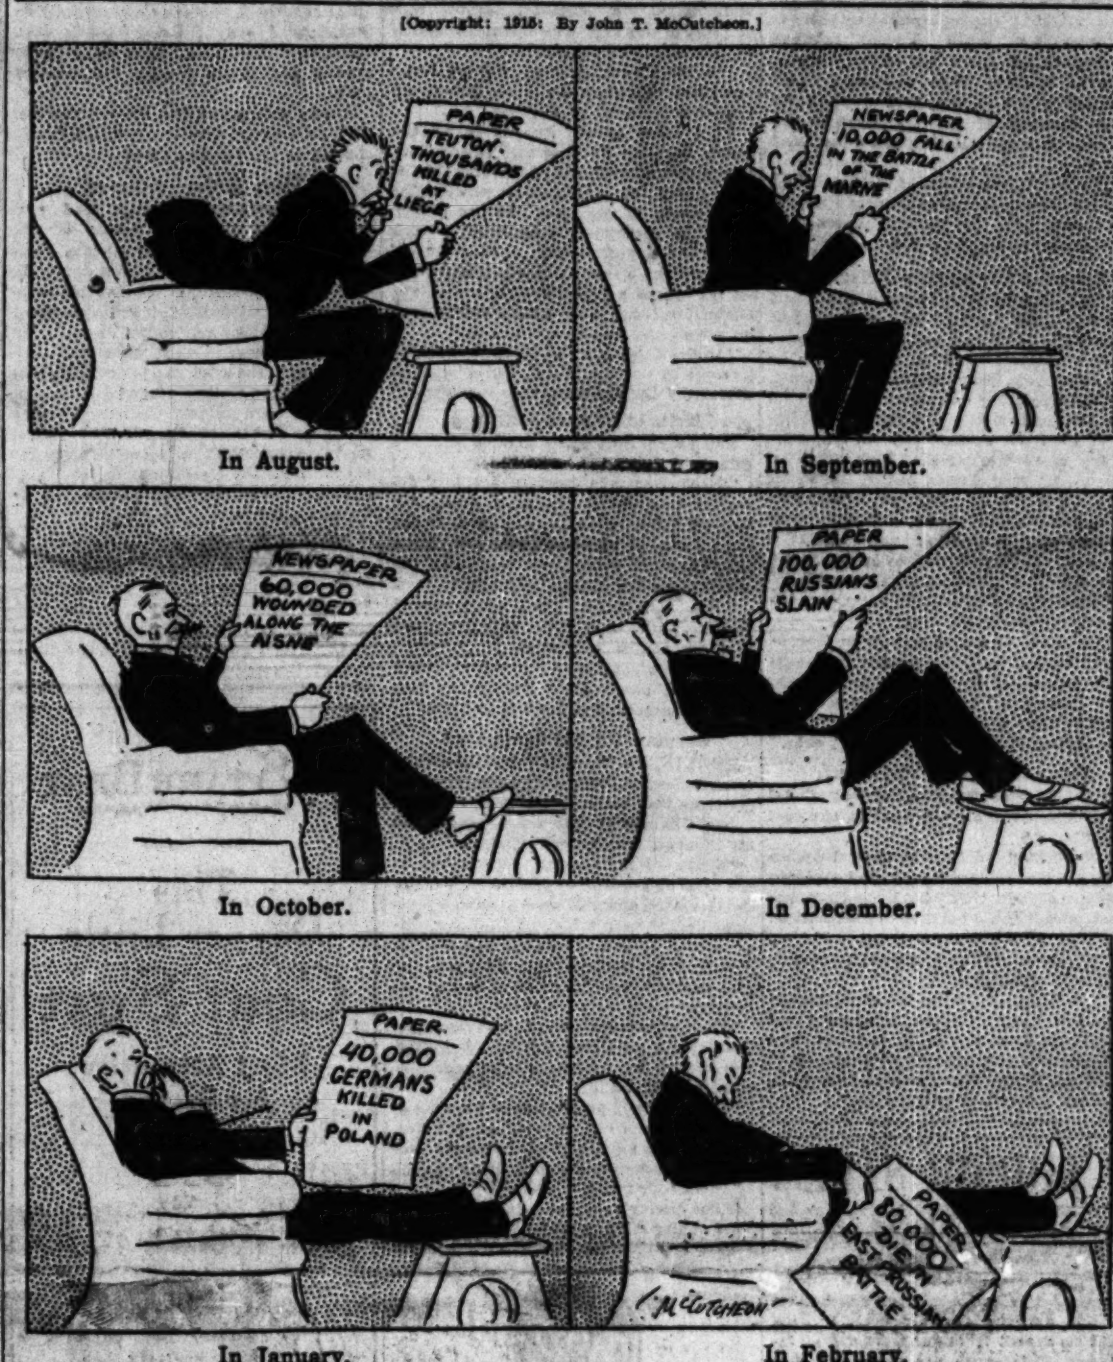

He ate a hearty meal, two pieces of pie, and a glass of beer.

'Kiss Me Good-by,' Wife's Plea to Disobedient Evanston Husband.

Durward B. Martin refused the offer of his parents to give him a college education. He left his father's truck farm at Alden, N. Y., and came to Chicago in search of work. He obtained a job as a cook on a boat which plied the drainage canal. Last July he married Miss Elizabeth Michaels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Michaels of 2221 Lake street, Evanston. Shortly after his marriage he lost his job. On the first of the year the couple went to live at the Michaels' home.

The family were at dinner yesterday when Martin said he was going out to get some beer.

"Don't," urged Mrs. Martin. "It does not look well to be bringing beer into the house on Sunday."

Martin went out and slammed the door. Mrs. Martin, visibly agitated, arose and paced the floor, while her parents continued eating. Presently she saw Martin enter the back gate with six bottles of beer under his arm. Mrs. Martin hurried to her bedroom and then to the back door. She stepped outside and met her husband a few feet away. They were near enough to the window for her parents to overhear what was said.

"You'd better kiss me, for I won't be with you long," Mrs. Martin was heard to say. There was a pause and then a shot.

Mrs. Michaels ran out of the door in time to see her daughter fall to the ground. Martin picked up the revolver.

JUSTICE TIMLIN HAS NEW MOUTH MADE OF OWN FLESH.

Wisconsin Jurist Calmly Watches Unique Operation Performed by Dr. A. D. Bevan.

Justice William H. Timlin of the Wisconsin Supreme court is at the Presbyterian hospital recovering from an operation said to be unique in the history of surgery. The operation was performed last week by Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan. While Justice Timlin, who is 60 years old, watched the proceedings calmly, Dr. Bevan removed a large cancerous growth from the jurist's face. Then, bit by bit, the physician removed strips of flesh from other parts of the face which were contaminated by the growth and fashioned a new mouth.

Because of Justice Timlin's age and general condition Dr. Bevan decided that it would be dangerous to administer a more than local anesthetic. The patient therefore was fully conscious and during the operation he evinced the greatest interest in what was going on.

At the hospital last night it was reported that the justice is well on the way to recovery. Justice Timlin has been operated on twice within six weeks. The first operation removed a growth from the lower jaw.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 28.—[Special.]—John Burroughs, the noted nature lover, was visited recently by a party of Atlanta teachers at the home of Dr. R. J. H. Deloach at Experiment, Ga. The question of the European war came up. "This is a most terrible war," Mr. Burroughs said. "I was hoping the end would come in June, but now I think otherwise."

LIST OF SUICIDES, DRUG LAW PERIL

Users Write Federal Officials
They Must Have "Dope" or Die.

It is now unlawful in Illinois to sell or give away habit forming drugs without the prescription of a reputable physician, surgeon, veterinarian, or dentist. The Harrison anti-narcotic law, which contains this provision, went into effect at midnight.

To the average newspaper reader this means little more than another item for the law books. To some thousands of Illinoisans it is a matter of life and death. Desperate pleas from "dope fiends" to save them from suicide by allowing them a small supply of their favorite drugs have been flooding the state and federal authorities in Illinois as the time for the enforcement of the law has drawn near.

Within a few days Julius F. Smietanka, collector of internal revenue for the Chicago district, has received twenty-five of thirty letters, all asserting the writer will die, if his supply of narcotics is cut off.

"Fought Habit for Years."
"I have fought to shake off this horrible habit for years," wrote a man who formerly had a large law practice. "Physicians have done everything possible, but my will power is gone. I now have been hysterical by nature, but it is a simple fact that I intend to commit suicide if I find I cannot get any more morphine."

Gov. Dunne has received many similar letters, as have the state board of health and the board of pharmacy.

Aid to Quacks?
It is feared the law will play into the hands of quack doctors.

"There is no means of preventing quacks from doing business with the dope fiends," said Mr. Smietanka. "That phase of the situation probably will have to be taken care of later."

BRITAIN MAY STOP SALE OF ALL LIQUORS

Lloyd-George Says Rum
Does More Damage
than Blockade.

WARNS OF WORLD PERIL

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, Feb. 28.—"Drink is doing more damage to this country than all the German submarines put together."

This was one of the striking statements made by Chancellor Lloyd-George in a speech at Bangor, Wales, today.

"I have something to say that is unpleasant," he said. "Most of our workmen are getting very much of their strength into this urgent work loyally and patriotically, but there are some who shrink their duty."

"Some workmen in the armament works refuse to work a full week's work for the nation's need. They are in the minority; the vast majority belongs to the class that we can depend on, but a small minority of workmen can throw whole works out of gear by means sometimes of one thing and sometimes of another. But to be perfectly candid, it is mostly the lure of drink. They refuse to work full time, and when they turn their strength and efficiency are impaired through the way they have spent their leisure. Drink is doing us more damage than all the German submarines put together."

Points to Russia's Success.
"Russia has stopped drink. M. Bark, the Russian minister of finance, with whom I conferred in Paris, told me that the output of Russian workmen had increased from 50 to 60 per cent since the sale of vodka had been prohibited."

"M. Bark admitted that he had lost £250,000,000 in yearly revenue which he certainly could not afford, but he added that if the government proposed to revert to the old condition there will be a revolution in Russia."

The stoppage of the sale of drink in Russia has been due entirely to the czar, and it was one of the most heroic things of the war.

Abstain Quoted by France.
"France abolished the sale of absinthe by a 10 to 1 majority in a single afternoon. This shows how these great countries are facing their responsibilities."

"We propose nothing so drastic, but we are armed with full powers for the defense of the realm. We have great powers to deal with drink, and we mean to use them. We shall use them in a spirit of moderation and wisely, but quite fearlessly, and no doubt the country will support our action."

The chancellor made no definite announcement as to the proposed action, but the military authorities at Blackpool closed all the saloons in Blackpool at 8 o'clock, much before the usual time.

Warns of German Dictation.
The chancellor warned Great Britain that the allies must win in the war, or the whole world must accept Germany's dictation.

"If Germany is triumphant over this country," he said, "she would be dictator of the world. And where," he asked, "could we then look to a chivalrous country to protect us—America?"

"If countries like France and Russia, with huge armies, and with the most powerful navy in the world, could not face this terrible machine, how could America step in? It would be more than America could do to defend her interests in her own continent. America is more unready than we were."

"Vassals of the Worst."
"Were Germany to win, it would mean world power for the worst elements in Germany," he continued. "I do not say that the Kaiser would sit on the throne of England, nor that the Death's Head Hussars would patrol our highways, but Germanism in its later and worst form would be the inspiring thought and philosophy of the hour. Germany would be constantly meddling, bullying, and interfering."

POINTS MADE BY LLOYD- GEORGE IN EFFORT TO WAKE UP GREAT BRITAIN

WERE Germany to win, it would mean world power for the worst elements in Germany. Where would our chivalrous country be? Who would step in to protect us? It would be more than America could do to defend its own interests. America is more unprepared than we are.

If Germany wins, we shall be vassals, not to the best of Germany, not to the Germany of sweet songs, inspiring, noble thoughts and science, but to a Germany that talked through the rancid voice of Krupp, that has harnessed science to the chariot of destruction and death.

Complacency is the rust of a nation. We laugh at things in Germany that should terrify us. Look at the way they make bread out of potatoes; that potato bread spirit is something more to dread than to mock at. I fear that more than Field Marshal von Hindenburg's strategy.

Drink is doing more damage to this country than all the German submarines put together. The output of the Russian workmen has increased 30 to 60 per cent since the sale of vodka was prohibited. If the government proposed to revert to the old condition there would be a revolution.

Society editors, please note: Mr. Harold A. Bunce and Miss Ruth Reed, students in Northwestern university, are engaged to be married. It may be interesting to include that Mr. Bunce is one of the list of thirty bachelors living in the Evanslon Y. M. C. A. who some time ago figured in a public complaint about their loneliness and expressed a desire to meet young women who, also were lonely.

Mr. Bunce, a Junior in Northwestern and assistant physical instructor in the Evanslon Y. M. C. A., received the sympathy of the corps.

Saturday Bunce and Miss Reed walked to Winnetka. They commuted with nature along the way and learned her ways. In Winnetka they paid $150 for two "tough little steaks."

"I hope I shan't always have to eat such steaks," protested Bunce.

"Well?" whispered Miss Reed. Anyway, when the couple attended church yesterday Miss Reed wore the badge of the Scribner's fraternity of which Bunce is a member.

WHO CAN SOLVE MYSTERY

Excited Northwestern Passenger
Says Woman Dropped Handbag Containing Jewels.

A man called up The Tribune last night.

"I came in this morning on a Northwestern train at 11 a. m. I was in the train. Just as I was leaving the train I saw a woman passenger drop a black bag. Adam Pearson, a sleeping car porter, picked it up and found that it contained about $50,000 worth of diamonds."

The woman had been on the train all the way from California, but I don't know who she was, and she disappeared before the bag was found. I wish you would find out what happened to the diamonds. The lost and found department of the railroad said no diamonds had been turned in to them. That of the Pullman company was closed, and the name of Adam Pearson does not appear in the city directory.

ALLIES POUND AT INNER FORTS; TURKS FLEEING

Fleet Forces Way Twenty Miles Down Dardanelles Straits.

MINES SWEEPED AWAY.

BULLETIN.
WARSAW, Feb. 28.—Abbe Marcheski of Zembok reports the burning of forty women and children locked in their houses at Zembok by Germans in their retreat. They refused to trust the peasants' oaths to keep silent regarding the movement of the troops.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, Feb. 28.—The bombardment of the inner forts of the Dardanelles was continued today, forty ships participating in the attack and pouring a storm of heavy shells into the Turkish defenses for several hours.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the attacking ships had reached Carophan, eight miles from Forts Kilit Bahr and Kale Salim, twenty miles down the straits.

All the forts on the European side of the straits up to that point have now been silenced.

ALLIES' FLAGS OVER FORTS.
British and French flags are flying tonight over the entrance forts which are occupied by detachments from the fleet.

This is the first time in history that a hostile flag has flown on the Dardanelles.

It is understood that the Turks have stationed 50,000 men along the European side of the passage and that 15,000 are gathered on the Asiatic side.

A dispatch received from Athens tonight says that during yesterday's bombardment a powder magazine at Mehore blew up by the explosion of a shell and that a large number of soldiers were killed.

FLY FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.
The success of the allied squadron and the fall of the entrance forts have caused the greatest consternation in Constantinople.

Dispatches from Greek and Italian sources as well as from Egyptian points tell of the panic in the Ottoman capital which still continues.

The Turkish cabinet has already decided to transfer the government to Broussa in Asia Minor, the ancient capital, to which Abdul Hamid and part of the government fled in the first Balkan war when the Bulgarian and Serbian armies got within a short distance of Constantinople.

Many of the inhabitants are already in flight and are moving their belongings to the interior.

QUEEN ELIZABETH LEADS.
In the bombardment today the fleet was again led by the Queen Elizabeth, the great battle cruiser whose 15 inch guns did such effective work in reducing the fortifications of the Aegean.

The fact that the Queen Elizabeth is in conjunction suggests that its four sister ships, all of which were laid down within a few weeks of each other, are either in the fighting line or ready to join it.

These five ships are considered the greatest fighting machines in the world, and besides being heavily armored are almost as fast as battle cruisers. Although their speed is given as twenty-five knots, the Queen Elizabeth made twenty-eight in its trials, and it may exceed that.

ECLIPSE BIG GERMAN GUNS.
The Chronicle's naval expert says that the guns of the squadron off the Dardanelles are more powerful than the heaviest howitzers Germany used against Lige.

The guns of the British battleships, he says, may be reckoned more formidable than the whole of those legendary sixteen inch howitzer batteries. It is stated that the mine sweepers have done swift and thorough work and have already cleared away part of the chains of explosives which begin at Kephex, eleven miles from the entrance, and continue through the narrowest part of the strait to Nagara road, where the Turkish fleet is supposed to be stationed.

BRITISH LABOR PROTESTS PRICE ON FOOD, FUEL

Socialists Demand Government Relief; Italy Caused High Wheat Cost.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—A big Socialist-Labor demonstration was held in Trafalgar square today to protest against the prevailing prices of food and fuel. A resolution was adopted expressing indignation and disappointment at the government's refusal to take "effective measures to deal with the alarming increase in the cost of food and fuel."

The resolution demands government control of carrying ships, the commandeering of home grown supplies for sale at the lowest possible prices, and the fixing of maximum prices for the necessities of life.

The meeting called upon the government to purchase all available wheat for the use of the people of the country at prices ruling for thirty days prior to the beginning of the war, the loss incurred to be paid out of the national revenues.

House Passes Relief Bill.
Col. E. M. House of New York, a personal friend of President Wilson, who is in London on his way to the continent, has expressed a deep interest in the work of the American commission for the relief of Belgium.

"I am much impressed," Col. House said, "with the high regard in which the commission is held by all with whom I talk."

"Ambassador Page is to be congratulated on the selection of such an able committee and the skillful manner in which he, co-operating with Ambassador Gerard at Berlin and Minister Whitlock at Brussels, has handled the delicate diplomatic questions arising in this relief work."

"The prophet's mantle, together with all the important relics and treasures, already has been removed to Brussels, where the sultan's harem also has been sent."

Means Relief for Russia.
The opening of the straits would release the Russian grain which the allies want and would give to Russia war material which it cannot produce, while it would be certain to have a marked effect on the future policy of the Balkan states.

An official dispatch from Cairo published here says that the Turks have evacuated the Sinai peninsula, between the gulfs of Suez and Akabah, and that it is believed in Cairo that all danger of a second invasion of Egypt by the Turks is removed.

SAY SEIZURE OF THE DACIA SHIFTS POLICY OF FRANCE.

D. S. Officials Claim Gallie Admiralty Has Hitherto Often Acquiesced to Change of Registry.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 23.—Sailors of the American steamer Dacia, formerly a Hamburg-American liner, by a French cruiser, which took the vessel to Brest, places the entire question of the validity of a transfer of flag after the outbreak of hostilities before the prize courts of France for adjudication.

The claim has been set up in various quarters during the present war that France has a traditional and unalterable opposition to any transfer of registry whatsoever during war.

Officials of the state department have pointed out, however, that while this doctrine has been proclaimed by France since the time of Louis XVI, the practice of the French admiralty has been different and that in many cases France actually has acquiesced in the right of a vessel to change its registry after the outbreak of hostilities.

No move will be made by the United States government until the French prize courts render a decision. If it fails to recognize the validity of the transfer, a protest will be entered.

Breiting After More Ships.
New York, Feb. 23.—The British "I" have just closed a deal for a British vessel and am in the market to buy more, regardless of whether they are German, French, Russian, or British, so long as the price is right." E. N. Breiting made this statement tonight.

Wife of Serb Official, Now in America, Claims Official Document Contains Inaccuracies.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Slavko Grotovich, wife of the Serbian under secretary of state, who is in the country in the interests of the Serbian agricultural aid committee, today made a statement pointing out what she asserted to be inaccuracies and falsehoods in the text of the Austrian-Hungarian Red Book. She declared that months before it really occurred rumor had it that a plot to assassinate Archduke Francis Ferdinand had been discovered and never had been reported as a Serbian plot. The Red Book, she said, made no mention of this, although it was widely known in social and diplomatic circles throughout Europe.

Another Ship a Victim of German Sea Blockade.
Liverpool Believed to Have Been Torpedoed or Sunk by Mine in English Channel.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—A dispatch to the Liberte from Marseilles, in the department of Finistere, on the English channel, says a ship's boat bearing the name "Liverpool" and containing two dead negro seamen was picked up today in the Bay of Loos, a bathing resort.

From the appearance of the bodies it is believed the men died from exposure or starvation.

The correspondent says it is inferred that the Liverpool either struck a mine or was torpedoed.

More Supplies for Belgium.
Charleston, S. C., Feb. 23.—The British steamer St. Helena sailed today for Rotterdam with 8,000 tons of supplies and clothing for Belgium, contributed by the people of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

Russ Begin New Offensive; Germans Retreat in Poland.

BULLETIN. PETROGRAD, March 1.—Since the commencement of the war Gen. Brusiloff has captured 1,900 officers and 186,000 men, or more than the number of his own forces.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.] LONDON, Feb. 23.—The general resumption of the Russian offensive in the Polish district, announced officially from Petrograd yesterday, apparently is confirmed by the German official statement today.

Germans admit the evacuation of the town of Praszyn, fifty-three miles north of Warsaw, which they occupied in their recent advance, saying that the German troops "retreated before superior forces of the enemy advancing on Praszyn from the south and east into the region north and west of the town."

"North and west of the town" means withdrawal farther away from Warsaw and nearer the East Prussian frontier, which at one point is only a matter of eighteen miles from Praszyn.

Strengthened Mlawa Positions.
The Germans have held Mlawa, twenty-two miles north of Praszyn, since soon after the beginning of their drive which cleared East Prussia of Russians, and it may be presumed that they have strengthened positions in the neighborhood of this town upon which, driven from Praszyn, they now can retire.

Unofficial reports received from Petrograd today were to the effect that within the last month the Russians had brought 1,000,000 new men to the line defending Warsaw.

If this report is only partially true the addition of reinforcements at all approaching stages must give the czar's forces a numerical superiority against the Germans, who in Poland are some distance removed from the German military railways, which made the latest Von Hindenburg drive possible.

The reported arrival of these fresh Russian troops on the Polish line is corroborated to an extent by the announcement in the German official statement of today that new Russian forces attacked the German positions of the north-west of Grodno yesterday.

Claim 1,600 Russ Prisoners.
These attacks, according to the Berlin version, were repulsed and 1,600 Russians were taken prisoner in the counter-attacks which followed.

The Berlin statement also tells of the repulse of a Russian attack northwest of the fortress town of Ostrolenka, twenty-seven miles east of Praszyn.

It would appear from this information from Berlin that the Russians have strengthened their forces, distributing their new troops and resuming the offensive over a front of at least 150 miles, the distance between Praszyn and Grodno. At no place in the German statement.

Helped to break the shackles of superstition in Europe, but to a Germany that talked through the ravens' voices of Europe, that has harnessed science to the chariot of destruction and death.

Warns of Complacent Spirit.
The chancellor severely criticized the spirit in which the war was regarded in England as compared with France and Russia. He warned his hearers that the war could not be won without a struggle, and the present policy of sloth and heedlessness would prolong the agony and endanger the final triumph.

"We have every reason for confidence, but none for complacency," he said. "Complacency is the rust of a nation."

"We laugh at China in Germany that should terrify us. Look at the way they make bread out of potatoes. That potato bread spirit is something more to dread than to mock at. I fear that more than I do Field Marshal Hindenburg's strategy, efficient though it may be."

He contrasted the spirit in England with the earnestness of France, where the people realized the grip of a grim tragedy, although they were quietly confident of victory. The British, the chancellor said, were conducting the war as if it did not exist.

Clyde Engineers Must Work.
Liverpool, England, Feb. 23.—The employment order of the government for the resumption of work by the shipyard engineers at the Clyde shipyards at Glasgow, who went on strike for increased wages, was today issued.

"The war," he said, "is to be won or lost by the engineers. We need men, but we need more than men, and every day of delay is full of peril to the country. For one reason or another we do not get the assistance we have a right to expect from our workshops. Industrial differences are inevitable, but we cannot afford them now."

"It is intolerable that the lives of Britons should be imperiled for the sake of a farthing an hour. During war government should have the power of settling differences so that work shall go on. If men are entitled to more money the government should give it. I do not believe the parties involved will refuse to comply in the urgent command of the government that there should be no delay."

Need Not Place Blame.
"Who is to blame? That is not the question, but how it is to be stopped. The whole point is that it ought to be settled without throwing away the chances of humanity in its greatest struggle. During the war the government ought to have the power to settle all differences. If the workmen ought to get more let the government give it to him. If he ought not, then he must not throw up his tools. The country cannot afford it. It means disaster. I must not be so delay, as output is everything."

"This war is not going to be fought mainly on the battlefields of Belgium and Poland. It is going to be fought in the workshops of France and Great Britain, and must be fought there under war conditions."

"Our enemies realize that the employees and workmen in Germany are struggling to the utmost. France also realizes this, and with a Socialist prime minister, a Socialist secretary of war, and a Socialist minister of marine the employees and workmen are subordinating everything for the protection of their beautiful land."

FRENCH REPORT CLAIMS ALLIES WON GOOD GAINS

Berlin Statement in Reply Declares Long Front Was Carried by German Troops.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The official statement issued by the war office tonight told of many gains by the allies on the western front.

"At Recourt, near Albert," the statement says, "a German attack was stopped by our fire. The enemy bombarded Soissons with 200 shells."

"In the Champagne district we made marked progress on the whole front from Combray to north of Perthes. Our gains of yesterday to the northwest and north of Reims represented 2,000 yards of trenches. In one trench alone the enemy left more than 200 dead."

"In the Argonne, west of Bourville, we captured about 300 yards of trenches. At Vauquois a brilliant infantry attack enabled us to reach the edge of the plateau on which the village is situated."

"In the Vosges, at La Chapelle, three kilometers north of Celles-sur-Pleigne, an attack by the Germans was repulsed."

Tells of Earlier Fighting.
The earlier statement, dealing with the affairs of yesterday, said:

"Near Dixmude Belgian artillery demolished two of the enemy's works, the Belgian infantry occupied a farm on the right bank of the Yser, and one of the Belgian aviators dropped bombs on the enemy's harbor station at Ostend."

"The Germans again bombarded Reims. Some sixty shells were fired, half of them at the cathedral."

"The total number of German soldiers who have surrendered during the last ten days amounts to more than 1,000."

German Official Statement.
BERLIN, Feb. 23.—The German official statement on the operations in the east says:

"Northwest of Grodno new Russian forces advanced yesterday, but German counter-attacks threw back the Russians onto the advanced position of the fortress. We took 1,800 prisoners there."

"Northwest of Ostrolenka an enemy attack was repulsed from this information from Berlin that the Russians have strengthened their forces, distributing their new troops and resuming the offensive over a front of at least 150 miles, the distance between Praszyn and Grodno. At no place in the German statement.

FIERCE BATTLE BETWEEN AEROS

German Raider by Mad Dash Escapes Galling Fire of Frenchmen.

BELFORT IS THE SCENE.

BY GORDON GORDON-SMITH. BELFORT, Feb. 23.—A desperate aeroplane encounter took place over this city a few days ago.

A blast of trumpets from the citadel, taken up by the bugles of the various fire brigade stations in the town, gave warning to the population that a German aeroplane was approaching. A few minutes later the rattle of musketry and machine guns showed that the garrison had opened fire.

But still the aeroplane came steadily on. Suddenly a gray colored French aeroplane was approaching. A few minutes later the rattle of musketry and machine guns showed that the garrison had opened fire.

It was only when the Frenchman was 200 yards away that the German turned sharply to the right and fled.

Hear Rifles of Aeros.
As the forts and garrison had now ceased firing, the sharp crack of the rifles of the opposing aeroplanes could be distinctly heard. Every time the Frenchman threatened to overtake the German the latter shot off at right angles, left or right, like a doubling haec.

The Frenchman kept mounting, evidently with the intention of getting above his adversary to drop a bomb on him.

It was soon evident that the German outpaced the Frenchman. The latter made every effort to keep between his enemy and the German lines, and kept edging him farther and farther on to French territory.

Drives Him Into Switzerland.
In this he was successful, but he was at the same time driving him toward the Swiss frontier. This was the German's salvation, as he suddenly put his motor at top speed and dashed off in the direction of Porrentruy.

ALLIES TO PROTESTS THEIR BL

Believed in London Agree to No Others Will D

BY CABLE TO THE LONDON, Feb. 23.—The British blockade is still holding. The following is the report of the allies have advised not to hold themselves shipping to and from the countries.

The announcement which may be made in London as to the non-military protests are not yet known. However, it is believed that the allies have not yet decided to be their proposals, a decision which may not be made until the end of the war.

ALLIES TO SPURN PROTESTS UPON THEIR BLOCKADE

Believed in London U. S. Will Agree to New Policy and Others Will Do Likewise.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.] LONDON, Feb. 28.—Protests against the British blockade of Germany will avail nothing. This was indicated today following the report yesterday that the allies have advised neutral countries they hold themselves at liberty to stop all shipping to and from its enemy countries.

The announcement of the new policy, which may be made tomorrow, is regarded in London as being the most important nonmilitary event of the war and protests are not unexpected.

Representations from the neutral powers, however, will have no effect for the reason Great Britain and its allies have determined to be inflexible in support of their proposals, claiming complete justification "in view of the fact that Germany has not adhered to conventions in setting up its submarine blockade."

Probable Attitude of U. S. It may be positively stated that nothing more than formal representations are expected from the United States.

It is believed the United States eventually will recognize the rights of the allies and that this course will be followed by other countries.

In effect the new policy will declare an absolute contraband on all goods of every sort, but it must not be understood the conditional nature of the policy will allow any leeway in commercial exchanges.

Only diplomatically there are any concessions. The allies will proceed exactly as if they had declared a blockade of Germany and will seize all vessels carrying food or other supplies which might be procured to be destined for Germany.

Example in Point.

For instance, an American ship carrying potatoes to Italy will be seized by British or French ships unless the Italian government has proclaimed an embargo on the exportation of potatoes from that country. The cargo will rank then as do copper and all absolute contraband at the present time.

The status of cotton will now be definitely fixed and the contentions of the faction led by Sir Charles Baresford, who has demanded that this commodity be made absolute contraband, will thus be met.

Scandinavian Request Refused.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—The Temps says it learns from a foreign official source that the proposal of the Scandinavian states that they be permitted to use warships as convoys for merchant vessels sailing for England has been refused by the British government.

WASHINGTON MARKING TIME.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—Inasmuch as the United States government has not been advised today either through Ambassador Page or the British embassy, here of the reported notification to neutral of Great Britain's intention to hold up all shipping to and from Germany and Austria, officials were unable tonight to express any opinion upon this latest development.

From the press report of Great Britain's plan, it was thought in official quarters that a blockade of an unprecedented character was in prospect, likely to involve many complicated questions of law.

It was pointed out that no question had been the subject of more controversy in international law than that of blockade, and officials said until the text of England's declaration was received and carefully examined it would not be possible to discuss its scope or say whether the United States would recognize it as binding on its vessels.

Much Concern Over Policy.

The proposed declaration by the allies created widespread interest among diplomats as well as officials. Some of the foreign envoys from neutral countries were believed particularly in the indication that England did not intend to maintain a blockade of the German coast, but would hold itself at liberty to stop all shipping no matter where encountered as the high seas if bound to or from Germany.

There is no exact precedent for such a policy, but it was considered likely in diplomatic circles that discussion in regard to its validity and recognition by neutrals would be based on the theory that a "blockade" was being attempted.

International law has several rules on the maintenance of a naval and commercial blockade, many of which have been incorporated in conventions ratified by the present belligerents as well as treaties between the United States and some of the European powers.

Accepted rule, it was pointed out tonight, prescribe that a blockade must be limited to the ports and coasts of an enemy, and that each declaration must give the geographical limits of the coast blockade.

Two French Children Found in Paris by Tribune Man.

JEANNE GOURC and HER BROTHER

An interesting story, a sidelight on THE TRIBUNE's recent movement to secure American homes for Belgian orphaned children, has just reached here from Paris. It concerns the efforts made to locate a certain young girl whose uncle sought to bring her to the United States and provide for her in his home at Baraboo, Wis.

It had been the custom of this uncle, Mr. A. Ch. Reis of Baraboo, to write his niece about once a month. After a while some of his letters brought any response, and so in December he enlisted THE TRIBUNE's aid in locating the whereabouts of his relative. The appended letter of THE TRIBUNE's investigator tells the story. He says:

"I had some difficulty in locating the little girl, owing to misspelled names and addresses, but I managed to find the right people, and their address is: Mme. Jeanne Gourc, 3 Rue d'Alger, Paris. I inclose card and photograph.

"M. Gourc is a working tailor and Madame works in the little store with them. The idea of separating their only little girl from them is beyond question. Their love for her is far too great and so long as they can keep a home over their heads, little Jeanne must remain with them. The son, a fine boy of 18, goes to the front in about three months, and is today working in his father's store, although in uniform.

"The love in this family is beyond description. I offered help if they needed financial assistance, but they refused, with profuse thanks. You can inform Mr. Reis that the Gourc family is not in need, although somewhat sad owing to the war."

WANTED-BABIES, EUROPE CRIES

Statesmen Start Campaign to Make Good Losses in War.

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.

[United Press Staff Correspondent.]

LONDON, Feb. 28.—[Correspondence.]

"Wanted—Boy babies!"

That's the cry of the statesmen of Europe. It's a dead earnest demand. They need boy babies just as they need wheat, or horses, or copper, or cattle. These statesmen of most of the nations in the great war have thrown aside all the peace time conventionalities about marriage.

"Babies," they cry; "we must have babies, no matter how we get them."

And if these same statesmen could persuade the European states to bring only boy babies for the next five years they would do it delightedly. There are plenty of women in Europe; there will be too many by the time this war is ended.

German Thorough on Plan.

The German statesmen have gone about the baby breeding business with characteristic thoroughness. They have made rules which encourage young recruits to marry before departing for the front; they want the fathers of Germany's babies to be the strong men of the firing line, not the weaklings who couldn't go to war.

But the most astonishing German plan is already in the way of accomplishment. Red Cross parties of doctors and midwives from the lying-in hospitals of Germany will be sent to Belgium and northern France during the next few weeks and escort into war ridden Europe the babies that are born in the trail of the German army.

France Legitimizing Babies.

In France the statesmen have gone to the last limit in legitimizing babies. "Unmarried mothers" are ranked with the married ones when it comes to the payment of war benefits.

And the statesmen of staid old England have followed France in this direction. In France there was no protest, but a handful of Episcopalian bishops in England, who happened to be in convocation at the time the rule was passed, complained bitterly about placing "unmarried wives" on the same footing in the war benefit lists with married women.

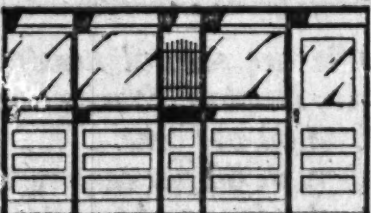

English soldiers are encouraged in every possible way to wed before departing for the front.

The French, however, have exceeded all former bounds. They have planned a law by which a soldier at the front may be married by proxy. In this way it is believed many "unmarried mothers" will be "set right" and their children legitimized without the necessity of calling the soldier father home from the busy front.

If the women of Europe, in any nation, are protesting against this plan of the statesmen for extensive and general breeding of babies, their objections are being silenced by the censors.

RESERVE ARMY OF 300,000 MEN WILL BE RAISED

Roosevelt and Others Plan to Prepare Trained Men for Use if War Comes.

New York, Feb. 28.—Formal announcement was made here tonight of the formation of an organization of first reserves to be known as the American Legion, to be composed of former army, navy, and militia men, which will better insure the nation's preparedness in case of war.

Capt. Gordon Johnston, aid de camp to Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding the department of the east, made the announcement on behalf of a group of army and navy men who in an unofficial capacity are acting with civilians in promoting the movement.

Capt. Johnston said that it is planned to establish within a short time a first reserve of between 250,000 and 300,000 former army, navy, and militia men for instant call in case of emergency.

Maj. Gen. Wood already has given the plan his unofficial indorsement and former President Roosevelt has written a letter approving the proposal. Numerous other public men have indorsed the project, and a statement by the promoters says that former secretaries of war and of the navy have indicated their willingness to act in an advisory capacity.

Letter Sent by Roosevelt.

Asserting that he and his four sons will become members of the legion, Col. Roosevelt, in a letter to the organization, says that in the event of war he intends to ask congress for permission to raise a division of cavalry. Mr. Roosevelt's letter says:

"I and my four sons will gladly become members. I earnestly hope and pray that there will be no war; but the surest way to avert war is to be prepared for it, and the only way to avert disaster and disgrace in war is by preparation, both military and naval, in advance.

"In the event of war I should ask permission of congress to raise a division of cavalry—that is, nine regiments such as the regiment I commanded in Cuba—and unquestionably the ranks of these regiments would largely be filled from the men of the legion and would in their entirety be filled by men such as those in the legion; for in the event of war there will be no time to train the men first called upon in such duties as shooting, riding, and taking care of themselves in the open.

"We should as a nation have begun to prepare ourselves the minute this war started seven months ago. It is impossible, to be sure, when there is such a tremendous war that we shall not be drawn into it against our will. The people of this country are only beginning to realize the extent of our military and naval unpreparedness."

Col. Roosevelt says he will gladly serve as chairman of the legion's board of honorary advisers, and hopes that the legion will accomplish its purpose in organizing a first reserve, for, he says:

"It is idle for us to trust to arbitration and neutrality treaties unbacked by force. Let us act justly toward others and let us also be prepared, with stout heart and strong hand, to defend our rights against injustice from others."

Open to Many Others.

In a formal statement of the aims and objects of the legion given out tonight by Capt. Johnston and his associates, it is said that the legion, now being incorporated under the laws of New York state, plans to enroll in its membership first all men who have had army and naval training and are therefore equipped for instant service. But the legion seeks to enroll patriotic citizens, especially those whose special qualifications make them immediately valuable.

Declaring that the organizers of the legion do not believe in militarism, but want the country to be prepared for any emergency, the statement continues:

"No one can be sure this country will not be dragged into war. Therefore, it is only common sense to provide against that ugly possibility. A man may be pretty sure his house will not burn, but he insures it just the same."

Col. Roosevelt says he will gladly serve as chairman of the legion's board of honorary advisers, and hopes that the legion

Myrtle Taft, 344 Hamlin avenue, Battle Creek, Mich., has written to Capt. W. P. O'Brien of the detective bureau to enlist his aid in finding her parents. In a formal statement of the aims and objects of the legion given out tonight by Capt. Johnston and his associates, it is said that the legion, now being incorporated under the laws of New York state, plans to enroll in its membership first all men who have had army and naval training and are therefore equipped for instant service. But the legion seeks to enroll patriotic citizens, especially those whose special qualifications make them immediately valuable.

Declaring that the organizers of the legion do not believe in militarism, but want the country to be prepared for any emergency, the statement continues:

"No one can be sure this country will not be dragged into war. Therefore, it is only common sense to provide against that ugly possibility. A man may be pretty sure his house will not burn, but he insures it just the same."

Col. Roosevelt says he will gladly serve as chairman of the legion's board of honorary advisers, and hopes that the legion

will accomplish its purpose in organizing a first reserve, for, he says:

"It is idle for us to trust to arbitration and neutrality treaties unbacked by force. Let us act justly toward others and let us also be prepared, with stout heart and strong hand, to defend our rights against injustice from others."

NEUTRAL NATION COURT WANTED AS WAR BARRIER

Chicago Peace Conference Adopts Platform Designed to Stop Conflict.

BY THE REV. W. E. NORTON.
A platform was adopted yesterday at the national peace conference held under the auspices of the Emergency Peace Federation. The meeting was declared by its promoters as marking the day as historic and as giving initiative to a movement destined to affect not only nations now at war but the future world policy.

The afternoon session was held in the temple where the platform was read and the evening meeting was held at the Hotel La Salle, where the platform was adopted.

Declarations of Platform.
The platform embraces the following declarations for:
The immediate calling by the government of the United States of a conference of neutral nations, to sit as a continuous court of arbitration and appeal, peace to be suggested only on terms which should not humiliate any nation and which should not be a compromise so as to involve further war.

Opposition to the doctrine of "the balance of power."
Substitution for this the doctrine of the "concert of nations," with an international court, an international congress with administrative and legislative power, an international police force, and the adoption of the principle of nonintercourse to enforce international obligations.

Ultimate Aims of Policy.
Upon the adoption of this peace platform by a sufficient number of nations there is to be a gradual reduction and final abolition of armament; the prohibition of the manufacture of munitions of war for private profit; the neutralization of the seas and trade routes.

Inequitable trade barriers are to be removed, democracy extended, including universal adult suffrage, the right given the people to decide treaties and alliances and secure delays before beginning hostilities.

The emergency federation was converted into a national peace federation with a permanent organization to secure a permanent and constant campaign of education. Miss Jane Addams was elected president and Louis P. Lochner secretary of the permanent organization.

The adoption of a plank in the platform to extend democracy so as to cover adult suffrage produced the first flurry in the debate.

"BE NEUTRAL": CHURCH UNION

Peace Body Founded by Carnegie Warns Against Partisanship.

SCORES DEFENSE PLANS

New York, Feb. 28.—The Church Peace union, founded a year ago by Andrew Carnegie, made public here today a message which the union has addressed to "The churches and clergy of America," castigating ministers and church people against partisanship in discussing the European war, and protesting against the present agitation for increased armaments.

Church Leaders Sign Message.
Twenty-nine prominent clergymen and churchmen, trustees of the union, representing all denominations, including Jewish organizations, have signed the message, which is as follows:

"In this calamitous hour, denunciation of either side assumes a superhuman knowledge of complex policies and purposes; the influence of our government in promoting peace, advocates a quarrel which we should help abate, creates a dissension among our own people, inflames a war spirit in America and gives force to the criticism that the church has abdicated its sacred function as the maker of peace and concord."

"Our own freedom from militarism has been due to protecting oceans rather than to superior virtue. The present clamor for an armament to resist a possible attack is prompted, not by zeal but by the disposition to echo on our side of the sea, the cries which have been heard in Europe for years, and it is engaging the same suspicions that have wrecked the relations of Germany and Great Britain."

"Are we to repeat the policy which is drenching the continent with blood? This is the time to prepare, not for war, but for peace."

Plan for Golden Rule.
"The golden rule must be made effective in international intercourse. This is the urgent duty of the churches, and American churches now have free opportunity to speak. They should cease baptizing national pride and selfishness with the name of patriotism, but forth greater effort to make the divine spirit leave all human relationships, and proclaim the missionary message of international Christianity."

MME. A. DEPAGE WARM IN PRAISE OF BELGIAN KING

Points Out Ruler's "German Blood" Does Not Interfere with Duty.

King Albert of Belgium was praised last night by Mme. Antoinette Depage for his devotion to his country's cause in spite of the fact that he has German blood in his veins. Mme. Depage, who is a royal envoy to the United States in behalf of the Belgian Red Cross field hospital, spoke at a meeting of the Federation of Belgian Societies of Chicago in the Hotel de Ville.

Mme. Depage intimated that King Albert's "inward feelings" might have been friendly to the Germans in the beginning.

Praises King Albert.
"Before this war," she said, "King Albert was not known to the world. It was thought he was slow and clumsy and he was compared to his uncle, King Leopold II. Some said he had German blood. That is true and whatever his intimate feelings were never did he mention them. In the words of M. Richpin, the French author, 'the war revealed him as a conscientious man, and the sense of duty became religion for him. He followed the course of duty with all its drawbacks and all its glory.'"

Mme. Depage told of the needs of the Belgian field hospital at La Panne, where she served as a nurse.

Land Stripped Bare.
"When we follow the army in our devastated land," she continued, "we find nothing. It is stripped bare, and often we will not find a roof to shelter the wounded soldiers. We must, therefore, have ready a number of field hospitals with every supply. I know how inhuman we shall be if we are not ready to aid the men who will pay for our liberty with their blood."

Contributions totaling $154 were made at the meeting, and the federation voted to turn over to Mme. Depage approximately $500 now in its treasury. Mme. Depage was introduced by Dr. Cyrille Vermeiren, Belgian consul in Chicago. Other speakers were Felix Struyckmans, Prof. Leo Vander Ecken of the University of Louvain, Dr. L. L. McArthur, and Theodore Summaripa, French vice consul.

The addresses were in French, English, and Flemish.

WOMEN PLAN PEACE DRAMA

Organization Is to Present "The Trojan Woman" in Truce Appeal.

TO START THIS MONTH.

Plans for the presentation of Euripides' "The Trojan Woman," throughout the United States as "An emotional appeal in the furtherance of a crusade for world peace" were announced in Chicago yesterday by the Women's Peace party, a national organization headed by Miss Jane Addams of Hull house.

The drama will be performed by the players and staff of the Chicago Little Theatre company. No salaries will be paid during the engagement, but a small amount will be allowed each member of the company for expenses. Stage hands and actors of leading roles will receive exactly the same sum. Not even the players' names will appear on the program.

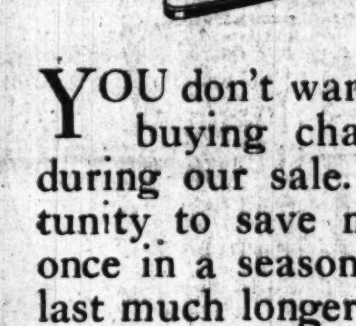

The tour will begin in the latter part of this month and will include all the larger cities of the United States and many of the colleges and universities to whom the entire net profit of the production will be turned over to the Women's Peace party for carrying on its work.

BOY FALLS 40 FEET; KILLED.
Phillip Platane Tumbles from Fourth Floor Window in His Home to the Sidewalk.

Phillip Platane, 10 years old, 901 West Erie street, plunged forty feet to death last night when he lost his balance while kneeling on the inner sill of a window in his home on the fourth floor and fell to the sidewalk. He was dead when neighbors, attracted by his screams, reached him. The boy is thought to have been watching for his mother, who was away.

FRENCH ALPINE TROOPS IN THE VOSGES—These mountain fighters have seen hard campaigning all winter. They are equipped with Alpine stocks and skis for covering the snow covered heights. They have been battling for possession of Upper Alsace ever since the opening of hostilities. Some of the most thrilling incidents of the war have taken place in the Vosges mountains. Charging down a snow covered slope on skis these French mountain fighters have exhibited great daring and bravery.

GERMAN OUTPOST IN EAST PRUSSIA—This part of the German empire has been overrun by the Russians in two successive invasions. At present the country is free from Cossacks, Gen. von Hindenberg's last drive having forced the Czar's armies into northern Poland. White goatskin and sheepskin coats are worn by the soldiers, as the cold has been severe during the winter.

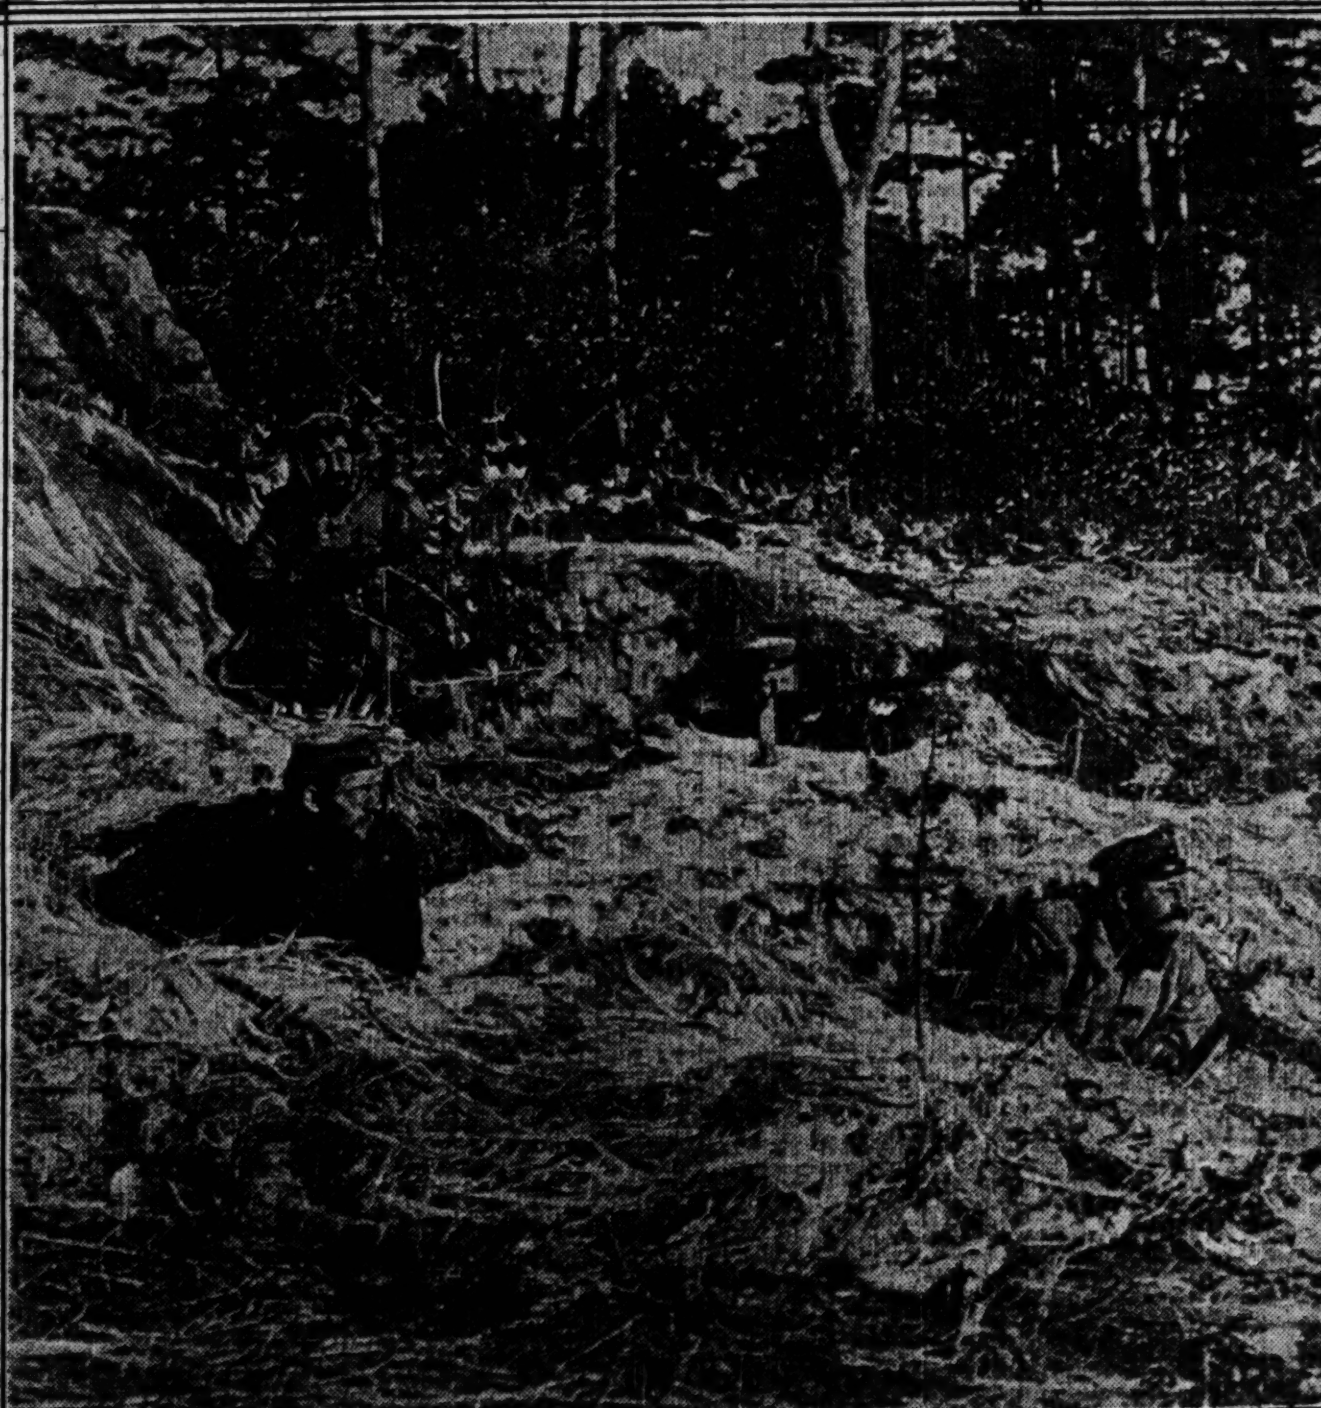

HEAVY FRENCH GUNS GOING TO THE FRONT IN WESTERN BELGIUM—To meet the attacks of the German artillery along the Yser, the allies have brought many new guns to the fortified trenches in western Belgium. The two cannon shown in the picture are direct from the armament works of the French government. These factories have been working night and day since the outbreak of the war.

RUSSIAN OBSERVER FINDING THE RANGE—Campaigning has been cold work in the Polish campaign this winter. This man is sitting in the snow among the frost covered shrub very taking notes of his observations and plotting the ground before the Russian trenches over which an attacking German column must travel.

INDIVIDUAL TRENCH ADOPTED BY GERMANS IN POLAND CAMPAIGN—Owing to the rapid shifting of the battle front in the eastern war zone, fortified trenches such as exist along the western battle line are impossible. In order to hold the advance positions gained, each soldier digs a pit for himself in which he crouches to await the counter attack of the enemy. If the position is to be held for any length of time a line of trenches is built.

TARTARS, BASHKIRS AND KERGISSES CAPTURED IN POLAND—The Germans and Austrians have taken, according to estimates sent out from Berlin, 602,000 Russian prisoners during the first 6 months. In this number are representatives from nearly all the many nationalities that make up the Czar's empire.

It Is Chicago's Share of One Million Books at 30% to 50% Off Prices Which Were Bargain Prices in the First Place!

ALL book lovers of Chicago, attention! We ask you to read every single word of this great book advertisement simply because we believe it is vitally to your interest to do so.

This announces the greatest book sale, with probably but one exception, that we have ever held. It is the sale of our share of the stock of a great concern which was in the wholesale business for 18 years and the principal distributors of publishers' entire remaining editions—both English and American.

This company has decided to discontinue its book business and as this store handled a great share of the editions distributed by this concern, it has fallen to our fortunate lot to take over

Thousands of books at prices from 30% to 50% below the already bargain prices which this concern was able to offer.

The sale begins this morning and will last until every book of this tremendous purchase is sold. This may be some time, it may be a very short time—but, any way, of some books there are very few, so for those books today is better than tomorrow.

The lists printed upon this page show the kind of books which are involved in this sale and the kind of prices that ought to make a book-selling record in Chicago.

For instance, the "Every Child Should Know" series, which in the original edition was 90c and $1.20, special edition 50c, is now 35c a volume. "Young Folks' Library of History and Literature," formerly 50c, now 25c. "Beautiful Children by the Great Masters," originally $5, then $2.50, now $1.50. "Lowney's Cook Book"—thousands sold through the newspapers at 49c, now 25c, and so on.

Remember, this sale of thousands of desirable books at prices which in almost every instance have never to our knowledge been quoted before begins this morning.

"Every Child Should Know" Books at 35c

Edited by Nellie Blanchan
This "Every Child Should Know" series forms a Library of Books of Knowledge—not in dry dictionary form, but real live books written and edited by lovers of children who thoroughly know the subjects and how young folks can be interested in them.

This series of "Every Child Should Know" books might also be called "Every Child Will Enjoy" books.

They have been written and edited by able and popular writers who know what is good for children, and how to give it to them in thoroughly enjoyable form.

The names of Mary E. Burt, Nellie Blanchan, Julia Ellen Rogers, Hamilton W. Mabie and the other editors of this series insure to you that your children's reading will be under good direction, and are a guarantee to the children that they will be kept interested.

You are sure that every one of these books is good for them, and they are sure that they will enjoy every book.

Lynching Talked of When Assault of Aged Woman Is Arrested.

It might aid in getting a truthful story from him.

At Aurora before Williams made his confession he was warned that whatever he said would be used against him. He then made a full confession.

In Wheaton Five Months.

"I have been in Wheaton for five months," he said. "I've carried clothes for washerwomen, scrubbed floors, and tended furnaces. I have been doing odd jobs for Dr. Schwartz for several months.

"Yesterday morning I went over to the Schwartz home at 7 o'clock. I later went back to Hannah Griffin's for breakfast, and came back to the Schwartz home at 9. I was there when the younger Mrs.
Schwartz left, and I knew the old woman was alone.

Says Robbery Was Motive.

"Mrs. Schwartz came out into the kitchen where I was reading a paper and told me to scrub the floor. I started to scrub the floor, and when she got close to me I jumped up and grabbed her.

"I caught hold of her by both arms and asked her where her money was. I wanted money and wanted it bad, and I thought she had a lot of it hidden away somewhere. I tried to cry out, but I didn't say anything.

"I just grabbed her waist and tore it open down the front and found a roll of bills. I stuffed it in my pockets and grabbed a piece of clothing and tied her hands and feet. Then I dragged her into the next room.

"She kept saying, 'Don't! Don't!' and I twisted a piece of the rope about her neck."

Dragged Into Closet.

"Why did you assault her?" broke in Chief Michels.

"I don't know, but I did. I dragged her into the clothes closet and piled some clothes on her, and then found I couldn't lock the door. I pulled a bureau over and shoved that against the door.

"I locked the doors and jumped out of a window and bought a ticket to West Chicago on the electric. There I bought another ticket to Aurora on the Northwestern. I got here about 11:25 in the morning and went around the saloons and poolrooms. I met up with Bill White.
He's an ex-convict, and I went up to his house to stay all night. This morning we went over to the Social club.
That's all."

"Why did you do it?" Sheriff Hester-man asked.

"I wanted the money," was all Williams would say.

Traced to Aurora.

Williams in making his escape took the route as told in this Tribune yesterday.
He first went to West Chicago and then to Aurora. Chief Michels learned Williams had been seen drinking about town last Saturday evening.

He had one of the negro suspects in the Peterson case brought before him and told him that if he would go out and find Williams he would be turned loose. The negro was gone all morning, and returned at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and announced Williams was at the Colored Men's Social club, a dive in the heart of the "black belt."

Chief of Detectives A. G. Wirtz, accompanied by William Abene, went to the hall and Williams was pointed out by the negro. He offered no resistance. He was taken to jail and there identified by Sheriff Hesterman and Dr. Schwartz.

Michels Gives Him Up.

Sheriff Hesterman assured Chief Michels that Williams had no connection with the Peterson slaying. He told him that Charles Nachtigal had seen Williams in the Griffin shack at 8:30 o'clock on the night of the murder and that he could not possibly have gotten to Aurora at the time the crime was committed. Preparations were then made to take the negro back to Wheaton.

Mrs. Schwartz, the aged victim of the negro's brutality, was reported to be feeling easy. Physicians declared that if she survived the effects of the shock
she might recover.

Has Record in Joliet.

Williams served time in Joliet penitentiary. He was sentenced for burglary in 1907 after robbing a haberdashery on the south side. Two years later, in 1909, he was paroled to Mrs. W. A. Monahan of the Salvation army, and was returned the next year for breaking his parole by entering a saloon. He went to the bridewell later for breaking a baseball through a window.

WOMAN IN PARK AUTO WRECK
VANISHES IN ANOTHER CAR.

R. F. Marline, Driver of Overturned Machine, Refuses to Reveal Name of Fashionable Companion.

Rosecoe F. Marline, secretary of the Power Coal company at 845 South Dearborn street, drove his automobile against a iron stake in Lincoln park last night,
his machine overturned and caught fire,
and a woman companion was pinned beneath. Motorists in a following automobile pulled the woman from the wreck and spirited her away before the police arrived. Marline refused to reveal her name, and was booked on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Marline's housekeeper at 700 Irving park boulevard said he had not been living with his wife for four years.

'RUB SHOULDERS WITH RICH'
EDITOR'S ADVICE TO RAGGED.

General Organizer of I. W. W. Advised Unemployed to Promenade Michigan Avenue.

Joseph Ettor, general organizer of the
I. W. W., wants the unemployed to display their rags for the benefit of the wealthy who walk up and down Michigan avenue.

"Not an organized parade," he told several hundred members and sympathizers of the I. W. W. yesterday.
"Just walk through the crowd, rubbing shoulders with the rich people. Bring them to them the fact that you are hungry and ragged and haven't the money to improve your condition or work
by which to get money."

SELL ALL YOUR WHEAT AND EAT CORN, SAYS PATTEN.

Chicago Trader Tells Los Angeles Audience Farmers Should Take War Prices.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—Let the United States sell all its wheat to Europe
at war prices and get rich," said James A. Patten of Chicago. He says America can get along without any wheat, because corn is as nourishing and just as easy to cultivate.

According to Patten, the price of bread
in the United States during the next few months depends on the battle in the Dardanelles.

Three Murders of Girls in City
Protest.

meat, I believe," said Mrs. Crim.

"When he had finished he went over to where my 10 year old son was operating the piano player. There was such a wild stare in his eyes the boy was almost frightened to death. He leaned forward and said: 'Is this the place where Jennie Miller was murdered?' He almost whispered it, for I was watching him, and he couldn't bear what he said. My son said he hated Miller, you know, used to take her meals here. My son replied that she was not murdered here, but up the street a ways. The man asked him several other questions, but the boy became frightened and told him he'd better go over and ask William Wright, the cashier, about it.

Asks About Money.

"He went over to the cashier's desk and asked Mr. Wright a few peculiar questions about the Miller case and then inquired if he usually kept much change on hand. The cashier replied that he did not. 'Can you change a $50 bill?' asked the man. Mr. Wright replied that he could not. The man then paid for his meal and left.

"When he had gone my son came running over to me and told me in a frightened voice what the man had said."

Another description of the man believed to have murdered Miss Peterson was furnished to a Tribune reporter at night by Will Wright, cashier of the Lincoln cafeteria in Aurora. Wright's description fits exactly the man who has been described by other witnesses.

Girl's Trip to Seer.

John Gray, who conducts a fortune telling place on Fox street under the name of "Prof. Vail," told a reporter for this Tribune of the visit paid him by Miss Peterson on Monday.

"Miss Peterson told me she was out of funds and out of work," said Gray. "She seemed to be worrying a good deal. She told me about Peter Kling. She spoke of marrying him. She wanted to know if Kling was on the square and whether she should marry him.

"Then she told me of a dispute she had had with a girl who worked in the Operative laundry and how she had quit her job there. I advised her to stick to Kling, but not to marry hastily. I did not charge her anything for the consultation,
as she said she would be in the following Monday."

"Prof. Vail" was one of those connected with the "clairvoyant trust" investigation in Chicago.

Ministers Want Better Officials.

Almost every minister in Aurora touching on the Peterson slaying in their sermons in the morning or at night. They urged their congregations to use their ballots wisely at the spring elections in electing efficient city officials, who would free the "City of Lights" from the stigma of crime.

The Rev. Frank E. Brandt, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, whose daughter, Miss Mary Brandt, was followed by a rain one night at about the time Jennie Miller was slain, praised this Tribune
for its policy of ferreting out lawbreakers and bringing them to justice. He commended its activities in attempting to track down the three slayers in Aurora's trio of women murders.

"The time has come when all good people should be united for a clean city," he said. "Our laws should be more strictly enforced. I don't want to criticize the administration, but it is notoriously evident that we are in need of a larger police force. The parents themselves are negligent in allowing their children to go out on the streets at night unaccompanied.
An election is soon to take place. It is the duty of the city to weed out incompetents."

Council Commended for Reward.

The city council was commended for offering a reward for the Peterson slayer by the Rev. H. Montgomery, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who spoke on "Safety First."

"Our city is well named the 'City of Lights,' and it should not be made the scene of deeds of darkness," he said. "If the Hollander murderer had been apprehended and severely dealt with these last two crimes would not have been committed. Our Commercial club is doing good work in bringing new enterprises to our city. What better investment could it make than by cooperating with the police in ending this reign of terror?"

The Rev. T. H. Marsh of the First Baptist church and the Rev. Allen Ray Heaps of the New England Congregational church announced at the morning service and again at night that all young men of the church would be placed at the service of the unaccompanied young members to accompany them to and from the churches.

MRS. ELLA FLAGG YOUNG EXPLAINS VIEWS ON WOMEN.

Says 35,000 Who Voted for Olson
Will Ballot Independently at Election in Chicago.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, who gave out an interview
following the primaries, in which she commented on the action of the women voters on the basis of her views on the subject in this letter to this Tribune:

"Evidently I failed to make clear to this Tribune reporter my reason for concluding long ago that one cannot predict what women will do in politics. Opponents of suffrage for women have contended that women would have no individuality in voting, that they would simply 'follow the leader.' Recently, before the primaries were held, the air was filled with guesses about the women's vote, as if the women would all vote the same ticket. As to the probable transfer of the 35,000 votes cast for Judge Olson
by the women, only one prophecy is safe:
Before casting her vote every one of those 35,000 women will weigh carefully
the merits of the candidates up for election. I believe in women as independent voters."

"With a full appreciation of the difficulties attendant upon reporting for the press, I have made it a rule not to rush into print whenever I think I have been misunderstood. In this instance, however, I cannot ignore that which places me among those who despise the women
voters."

KEY SUPPORTERS LINE UP STRONG FOR THOMPSON

Moose Faction Leader and Followers Decide to Join
G. O. P. Ranks.

The Republican harmony program got another boost yesterday when the key members of the Progressive party got together at the Hotel Sherman and decided to join with the regular organization in support of William Hale Thompson for mayor.

W. W. Haupt of the Eleventh ward was chairman. About fifty Progressive party leaders were present, and most of them made speeches, declaring for reuniting Republican forces in a strenuous fight against the Democrats.

Chairman Haupt was authorized to name a committee of seven members to offer Mr. Thompson support of the key forces.

Key Urges United Party.
Mr. Haupt was one of the speakers. He thanked the Progressives who supported him in the primary, but declared that the time had come for a united party. Inasmuch as the Progressives had two men on the ticket—Charles H. Sorel for treasurer and John Simon for clerk—he thought it was the proper thing for all Progressives to get into the band wagon and cast the ticket over, from top to bottom.

Among other speakers were William Malone, L. M. Jones, William Lang, William Rochelle, Mrs. William Severin, Mrs. Pauline Kelly, Mrs. Dora East, and Mrs. Burton Morgan.

Mrs. Severin urged the united support of Mr. Thompson and a sincere campaign in his behalf. She thought the entire ticket would be elected if Republican factions could be united.

Thompson Taking a Rest.
Mr. Thompson is sojourning in Michigan for a couple of days, about three weeks' ride from Chicago. Commodore James Pugh telephoned from the retreat last night that Mr. Thompson's health had greatly improved in the last twenty-four hours, and that if he continued to mend he could return to the campaign in the middle of the week.

Robert M. Switzer, accompanied by Mrs. Switzer, got away yesterday for Hot Springs, Ark. It is Mr. Switzer's intention to be back in Chicago one week from today to attend the harmony meeting of the Harrison members of the county managing committee.

FINN MINERS TO DRIVE OUT CALUMET LABOR AGITATORS.
Mass meeting adopts resolutions to oust Socialists and others from territory.

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 28.—[Special.]—Five thousand Finnish miners in mass meeting here this afternoon adopted resolutions to drive Socialists and labor agitators from the Lake Superior mining district because of alleged pernicious influence among the nationality in creating discontent and class hatred.

Carl Hanning, chairman, in opening the meeting quoted Gov. Ferris' talk to labor organizers during the copper strike: "Red socialism was the base of all the trouble in the copper country."

Superintendent of Schools John Doelle of Houghton advised the Finns to use any means in driving out the "trouble makers."

CHURCHES OF OAK PARK AROUSSED BY SENATE ROW.

Wrath Is Vented on "Wets" Who Are Charged with Delaying Re-count in Twenty-third District.

Congregations of twenty-one churches of all denominations in Oak Park yesterday joined in a memorial to the state senate to demand the elections subcommittee counting the ballots in the Twenty-third district that "procrastination and outbidding" cease, and that Henry W. Austin be not further kept from claiming his seat.

In all these churches the ministers delivered sermons in which they severely arraigned the United Societies and the "wet" interests, asserting that these interests were behind the procrastination that they allege has characterized the recount up to this time.

They protested also against the reported plan of some committee members to throw out the entire vote of Oak Park on a technicality, which action would result in the seating of Joseph Strauss, Democratic contestant.

Charges that the "wet" interests are spending $50 a day to keep Austin out of his seat were made throughout the Oak Park district and circulated on cards and posters.

Arrangements also were made for a mass meeting tonight in the municipal building in Oak Park.

Fire Route Sleepers.
Fire on the first floor of a three story frame building at 3232 Broadway avenue early yesterday drove out the occupants, including Benjamin Sorel, a cripple, his wife, and their 7 months old son. Miss Caroline Graves lives on the third floor and owns the building.

NEW INVENTION ON GASOLINE TO DOUBLE OUTPUT

Another Insures to U. S. Bases for Dyes and Ammunition;
Both Free to Public.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—Two discoveries, both of vast importance to American industries and one regarded also as a priceless military asset, were announced today by Secretary Lane of the interior department. They are chemical processes, developed after years of research by Dr. Walter F. Rittman, chemical engineer of the bureau of mines. One is expected to enable oil refiners to increase their output of gasoline by 200 per cent; the other makes possible the production from crude petroleum of toluol and benzol, bases for dyes and high explosives, for which in the past the United States and the rest of the world have depended almost exclusively upon Germany.

Dr. Rittman has applied for patents upon his processes to prevent the possibility of any monopoly in their use and will dedicate them to the American people.

Lane Tells of Processes.
"These processes," Secretary Lane said today, "are fraught with the utmost importance. This new process adds to the hope that in spite of the wonderful growth in the use of gasoline there may not be any shortage in the future. I am led to believe it will not only be of incalculable value to refiners commanding only limited capital, as well as those of wealth, but also to the hundreds of thousands of users of gasoline."

The second process discovered by Dr. Rittman may prove of much more value than the first, in that it suggests the establishment of an industry in which Germany herself has been preeminent—the dye industry—and also promises indirectly a measure of national safety of incalculable import.

Among the necessary ingredients of high explosives, toluol and benzol are in the first rank. Heretofore these products have been mainly obtained in Germany and England from coal tar. Explosives manufacturers have had to depend largely on these sources.

Will Insure Good Supply.
"The federal government now proposes to obtain toluol and benzol from crude petroleum. These products can be produced from practically any American petroleum. The supply can be made sufficient not only for the entire American trade, but also for other purposes and at a reasonable cost."

The real comforting thing, however, is that in time of great national stress, if the nation is ever called upon to defend itself, we will be able to manufacture the most efficient and most powerful explosives known in warfare. Were it not for this discovery it is possible that in such an emergency we might be compelled to rely largely on greatly inferior explosives and this would spell national disaster."

NEW YORK HAS ITS DRIEST DAY

Saloonkeepers, Fearing Arrest, Shut Up Shop and Thousands Thirst.

ALARM PROVES FALSE.

New York, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—New York was "drier" today than it has been since Theodore Roosevelt was police commissioner, twenty years ago. That statement sums up the opinion of thousands of thirsty men in the five boroughs, who carried home empty "growlers" this afternoon, after vainly seeking through their neighborhoods for an unlocked saloon back door. However, the alarm was a false one.

All over the city saloonkeepers clamped on the lid Manhattan's tenderloin being the only district where utter disregard was paid to the opinion of thousands of inspectors from the staff of State Excise Commissioner Farley.

Bronx Like the Sahara.
The Bronx was a desert; so was Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond. Harlem saloonkeepers sold liquor, but few dominated most of their sales, and many a thirsty man was turned away by waiters stationed at the "family entrances."

At the liquor dealers were warned by the brewers last Monday that Commissioner Farley would be in town today, and the order was sent out to "be careful." Though his men were here, Mr. Farley failed to appear.

No Orders from Woods.
Police Commissioner Woods issued no orders to the inspectors. Mayor Mitchell, rumored to be riding about the city in an automobile looking for excise violations, was really at his farm at Croton lake.

So the joke was on the saloon men, who might have kept their back rooms open.

SHERMAN A FOE OF INCOME TAX ON LIFE RISKS

Insists Premiums Should Be Deducted; Assessment Company Changes to Old Line.

BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Senator Lawrence T. Sherman of Illinois, who made friends at the annual convention of the National Life Underwriters' association at Cincinnati last fall by the views he expressed on life insurance taxation, appeared during the week before the New York State Life Underwriters' association.

The senator was the main factor during the time the income bill was before congress to get the tax on life insurance dividends to policyholders deducted.

He took the position in his New York address that life insurance premiums should be deducted in estimating net income. He believes that to deny it is illogical, unfair and fraught with injustice.

Insurance Finance Supply.
In speaking of life insurance Senator Sherman stated that he doubted if the public generally appreciates the importance of life insurance as a great source of supply to finance legitimate undertakings.

He called attention to the fact that large sums of money are necessary in modern life to promote and operate successfully some of the most vital agencies for the needs and comfort of mankind. In order to bring services and commodities indispensable to life, health and convenience of a great population within the reach of all, it is necessary for corporations to borrow, at reasonable rates for long terms, sums adequate for the purpose.

Becomes Old Line Company.
The Merchants' Life association of Burlington, Ia., one of the largest assessment life insurance companies, has decided to go on the old line legal reserve basis. A few years ago the Merchants' Life association of Des Moines, reorganized on this basis, leaving the Merchants' Life as one of the last of some forty assessment companies that operated in the state some years ago.

The Merchants' Life association will have $100,000 capital stock and will change its name to the Merchants' Life insurance company. The association has something over $62,000,000 of insurance in force.

Chicago is to be the headquarters of another life insurance company. The Liberal Life of Anderson, Ind., is now arranging to move its headquarters here.

Women's Spring Coats, $32.50

In the New Style Here Sketched

Reflecting every tendency of the newest mode—

From the flaring Cossack skirt belted at the sides;

To the deep collar of heavy gros-grain silk;

In the fabric, the very new velveteen weave;

In the colors, black and navy blue, which colors the creators of modes firmly decree for spring.

In a word—this is frankly, comfortably and very smartly a new spring coat at an unusual price, $32.50.

Spring coats in a variety of modes and materials are comprised in assortments ranging from $18.75 to $75.

Fourth Floor, North Room.

New Tailored Suits At $35 and $52.50

The Tailored Suits at $35—

Comply gracefully to the rule of simplicity and distinctly "tailored effect"—in the very jaunty jacket with its pleated peplum at the back, in the flaring but conservatively full suspender skirt.

The Tailored Suits at $52.50—

Adhere to this same spring-ordained simplicity in line, but details a bit more elaborate distinguish them. The deep points of the coat are embroidered in blue and gray silken threads.

Hand-made silk ornaments edge front and back. The shawl collar and revers are of striped silk. The skirt has the new yoke top.

Both these suits represent only one of many styles at the prices featured today.

Fourth Floor, North Room.

In the French Room Will Be Shown:

Artistic Reproductions of Imported Spring Hats, $15

Introducing at the same time a charming new mode Paris originates this year, which recalls the fashion of crinoline days.

The Pelerine of tulle, ribbon and roses to match the hat—a high turban with transparent crown and cockade of tulle. In the sketch.

Every hat shown in this French room today had its style origin in the ateliers of such famed modistes as Maria Guy, Lewis, Susanne Talbot, Reboux.

None of the original coquet is lost in reproducing. Only the price, you will find, is materially lowered.

The New Tailored Turbans—Offer khaki and white combination. Dark blues for the blue tailor suits now the vogue. Stiff quills, flaring bows, sharp pointed wings are the new trimmings.

The New Dress Hats—Show the pastel tints and neutral tones. Ostrich and flowers, flowers and grasses, constitute the garnitures.

Georgette Originates Two New Sailors

One large, the other small. Both are here in this collection, faithfully reproduced.

Such is the character of this splendid offering—these charming Paris hat reproductions to be shown here today at this very modest price, $15

Fifth Floor, South Room.

Fiber Silk Sweater Blouses at $5

Every new spring color to choose from in the sweater blouse of fiber silk which is pictured here.

Exposition gold—canary yellow—copper color—dark green—Belgian blue—black—white Women who know values will marvel that sweater blouses of this sort—both in style and fabric—can be so low in price.

But the collection is small—just 45 at this price—today $5 each.

Third Floor, North Room.

Handkerchief Sale

Thousands of handkerchiefs for men and women are included in this sale at surprisingly low prices for the very desirable qualities offered.

Every handkerchief in this sale is perfect in every way and savings will average from one-third to about one-half.

Women's Sheer Pure Irish Linen Handkerchiefs at 18c

With hand-drawn hemstitching and hand embroidered corners. A large variety of patterns.

Women's pure Irish linen handkerchiefs with embroidered initial, the popular "Long-fellow" style—3 styles of initials to box—all initials in stock. Box of three, 50c

Women's pure Irish linen handkerchiefs with embroidered corners. These are very special and marked at about half the usual selling price, 25c each.

Men's Imported Linen Handkerchiefs, Box of six, special, $1

These come with hand-embroidered initial.

Men's Unlaundered Handkerchiefs Special, 18c and 25c each

These are of unusual size and splendid quality for the price, and they will launder perfectly.

First Floor, North Room.

Georgette Crepe Blouses From Our New Spring Collections at $10 and $13.50

You cannot imagine how delightfully feminine a blouse can be until you have seen these blouses of Georgette crepe.

Both are, indeed, springtime blouses—lovely and filmy and delicately hand-embroidered. Each represents one of many charming blouses in its group.

The Blouse from the $10 group—

The Blouse from the $13.50 group—

Has a vestee outlined by hemstitching in points. The petal-like points of the collar are picot edged. At the left.

Fourth Floor, North Room.

From Japan—Hand-Embroidered Silk Robes at $12

Imagine soft silks, exquisitely tinted, shading from a pastel tone to a deep rich color. These embroidered by hand, wonderfully as only they of the flowery kingdom know how.

—Blue shading from sky to marine is embroidered in pink roses.

—Yellow runs a color range from cream to gold.

—Apple-green as cool and lovely as possible.

—Black is gorgeous with pink flowers, and pink and Copenhagen blue are embroidered in tones of same colors.

The obi (butterfly sash) is generously wide, measuring 13½ inches. Sketched here and very specially priced at $12.

THE MARCH SALES FOR THE HOME

Begin this morning

Probably there are few store-events so broad in the economies they encompass, for these sales include practically everything for the home from drawing-room to kitchen—and at every angle they fulfill the mission intended of them: to make March the best time of all the year to furnish the home, wholly or in part.

The Annual March Sale of Oriental Rugs

An event comprising the greater part of our entire stocks of Oriental rugs and disclosing values which make this sale one of the feature occasions of the March series. Together with the following special assortments a splendid collection of large size Oriental rugs is included at remarkable reductions.

Beloochistan Rugs

About 400 rugs, especially selected from the bales of Orientals from this far-famed district. All these rugs are most typically Beloochistan in designs and colorings—and every rug is of the highest quality, many of them really "collector's pieces."

SESSION ENDING, CONGRESS BUSY TO FILL DUTIES

Remarkable for Amount of

MANY NEW LAWS RESULT.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—[Special.]— In eight sessions beginning tomorrow and ending in a continuous session, the sixtythird congress will jam through all remarkable routine legislation and adjourn on March 3.

The order that has gone out from the White House is to wind up the business of the congress with the greatest possible speed, for there is to be no extra session, and probably not even a special session of the senate.

Both houses will have their hands full filling appropriation bills. The house is expected to approve the conference report on the ship purchase bill tomorrow, and on Tuesday it will be brought up in the senate, where it is deemed to death by Republican filibuster if the Democrats attempt to jam it through.

Some of the things done.
Few congresses since the civil war have passed legislation so important as has this thirty-third. Among the things done are:

1. The enactment of a tariff law revising downward practically all schedules affecting articles of food, clothing, and other, and revising upward most chestily affecting luxuries.
2. The enactment of an income tax law.
3. The enactment of a war tax law.
4. The enactment of a new banking law.
5. The enactment of a law creating a federal trade commission.
6. The enactment of a law revising the antitrust statutes, exempting labor and farming organizations from the provisions of these statutes, and abolishing interlocking directorates in big business.
7. The enactment of an agricultural extension act, which is intended to carry out the results of the department of agriculture's research work directly to the men and women on the farms.
8. The enactment of a law which affects the government better facilities for settling railroad and industrial disputes.
9. The enactment of a law providing for the construction of a railroad in Alaska intended to open up that territory to civilization and development.
10. The enactment of an anti-narcotic law intended to break up the traffic in habit forming drugs.
11. The enactment of a law reforming the conviction service.
12. The enactment of a law combining the revenue cutter and light-house services into the coast guard, which in times of war will be used in coast defense.
13. The enactment of a law intended to break up gambling in cotton.
14. The repeal of the tolls exemption clause in the Panama canal act, which withheld the treaty with England and affected a subsidy to the coastwise shipping trust.

Many Things Left Untouched.
Unfinished as this record of things accomplished appears, the congress has left to do many things which it should have done. Among the measures which it has failed to enact are these:

1. A bill to prevent the interstate transportation of products of child labor.
2. A bill to regulate the issue of railroad securities.
3. A group of conservation measures intended to preserve water power right to obtain the best results from the grazing and mineral lands, and to conserve the American radium supply.
4. A measure to provide an adequate credit and land mortgage system.
5. A measure revising the civil service laws so as to create a real merit system.
6. A measure establishing presidential elections in the various states.
7. A measure to build up a strong standing army, a national reserve, and an adequate state militia.
8. Measures making adequate provision against defalcation.
9. Measures properly balancing the budget and making it an effective fighting budget.

Whose Faces Are Behind These Sorority Masks?

"MAYOR" TO RULE IN CITY SCHOOL; CUTUPS WARNED

Pupils of Irving Park Building
Take Up Self-Government System Today.

A new administration, pledged to stop the pernicious practice of shooting paper wads, of whispering
and passing notes,
and fighting without at just procedure, will take office
today. Mayor, aldermen, judges, and jury, and policeman, or wardens, will be sworn into office
with befitting ceremonies.

The administration will relieve the teachers of the Irving Park school,
Kedvale avenue and Grace street, from some of the embarrassing situations in discipline. It is going to take the conduct of the pupils of the school into its own hands. In addition to that, it will look after such matters as beautification of school grounds, cleanliness of lockers and desks, health of students, and all matters pertaining to the social welfare of the school.

Boy of 13 Is Mayor.
Albert Howard has been elected mayor.
In a field of nine candidates. Albert, who is 13 years old, lives at 3003 Kenneth avenue. He has been president of the graduating class of the school and captain of one of the lines of children entering the school building. He will now preside over a council of forty-eight aldermen, a police department of eight wardens, and a court for the hearing of all complaints against the 1,152 pupils of the school.

There are twenty-four rooms in the school, and each room will have a boy alderman and a girl alderman. The aldermen have selected the following eight wardens, whose duty it is to report to the mayor and the council all cases of misconduct on the part of pupils:

Hasel Korantz, Orrill Lipsey, Dorothy Keen, Nelson Thomas,
Anna Fensholt, Ralph Johnston,
Ester Paul, Herbert Livsey.

Mayor Passes Judgment.
The wardens will have to stand up in court and present the evidence against their fellow pupils. The mayor will pass judgment.

Miss Mary McMahon is principal of the school and the plan was started under her direction. It is said to be the first elementary school in the city to turn over to the students the government of the school. The Lake View High school organized a commission form of government among the students to handle affairs of the school about a year ago, and the system is still in operation.

WOMAN AND CHILDREN FED: FIRST FOOD IN SEVERAL DAYS

Police Emergency Call from Neighborhood Takes Relief to Destitute Nurse and Her Little Ones.

Mrs. Mary Landu, 3500 South Fifth avenue, and her six children were treated to the first meal they had had for several days when the police of the Twenty-fifth street station learned of her condition
last night through a "Main 13" call from a woman who said she was a neighbor,
but would not give her name.

Lieut. Charles Atkins, Sergt. George Creed, and Operator John Burke with him in the station contributed $5, with which groceries, meat, and coal were bought and delivered to Mrs. Landu. A investigation proved that the woman and her children, the oldest of whom is 10 years, have been destitute for several days. Mrs. Landu is a nurse, she said, and has been unable to get work. Her husband deserted her two years ago, she asserted.

DANCERS ASSAIL CLOSER OF HALL

Woman Investigator Is Almost Drawn Into Riot Against Policeman.

Mrs. George S. Haskell, chairman of the Hamilton Park Improvement association, spent yesterday preparing a report on an early morning experience at a dance in Hesperian hall, at Sixty-ninth street and Ashland avenue.

Mrs. Haskell, with a minister and a party of friends, has been investigating social dance halls for Mrs. Charles E. Merriam and the Political Equality league. Her visit, she said, brought her so close to being one of the principal actors in a first class riot as she ever care to come.

Menace Policeman.
"The conduct at Hesperian hall," she said, "was so bad that the policeman on duty ordered the hall closed twenty minutes before 3 o'clock, the regular closing time. The dancers, waiters, and bartenders objected to this and surrounded the policeman, talking loudly and threatening to 'get his star.' A young man shook his fist in my face, shouting, 'You don't care about dance halls. You're here to shut them down. I suppose he meant the white ribbon.'"

"My party hurried to my automobile.
At the corner we asked three policemen to go to the aid of the lone officer in the hall,
who was trying to quell the riot.
"Some of the dancers were positively insane. Six women were nightgown and the 50 cent variety and carried lighted candles and signs announcing 'We are looking for husbands in Englewood.'"

In Baseball Suite.
"Another group of women were conspicuous for their gray flannel baseball costumes, which were much too snug for dancing. Early in the evening one of the girls in the nightgown went to sleep on the shoulder of her man companion. The girls drank wine and beer all the evening."

A boy of 19 was carried out on the shoulders of bartenders at 115 o'clock.
Before 3 o'clock the dancing became so indecent that the policeman decided to close the hall. Then the riot started.
The north side halls were quieter than usual, according to Mrs. James G. Bourchier, a dentist, dropped dead in the pulpit. The service was a farewell in honor of the Rev. P. O. Duncan, pastor of the church,
who is to be transferred to Waynetown,
Ind.

Dr. Nisley was speaking for the lay-
men.
"Now, Brother Duncan, you are about
to leave us," he was saying, when suddenly he staggered and fell lifeless.
Many persons rushed forward and his
service closed abruptly.

CHICAGO MAN APHASIA VICTIM
Walter Hunt Found Wandering in New York and Taken to Bellevue Hospital.

Walter Hunt, a Chicago newspaper man, has been found wandering in New York city and taken to Bellevue hospital, New York. He was picked up early yesterday in Grand Central station, where he was wandering about, dazed. He was taken to the hospital, where his case was diag-

BETTERS ON CITY PRIMARY PULL WINNER IN A BUGGY.
John Adams Jr., Switzer Adherent, Enjoys Trip at Hands of Harrison Allice.

One of the freak primary bids was yesterday when Richard H. Clement and Frank Brunk pulled for several blocks
on the west side a buggy in which John Adams Jr. enjoyed the novel ride. Adams, who is department manager for W. H.
Salsbury & Co. of 105 South Wabash avenue, was a Switzer adherent. Clement, who produces a saloon business at 2125
South Crawford avenue, and his friend, Brunk, were certain Harrison would be renominated.

The police yesterday established the identity of the woman who ended her life yesterday night by turning on the gas. She is Cora Warren and formerly lived with her mother, a traveling saleswoman, at 6249
Drexel avenue.

FRATERNITY BOYS ALSO AT Masked Domino Ball in Girls' House.

Just when Mrs. Ella Frazz Young and the school board began to think the high school sorority problem was nicely settled by the abolition of the societies, the Hyde Park chapter of Gamma Beta Psi flaunted its existence. Saturday night
the sorority gave a domino dance at the home of Miss Marjorie Stanton of 4925
Greenwood avenue. Miss Stanton says
she left school rather than tell an untruth by denying her allegiance to her
club.

Miss Stanton and Miss Carol Chickering
of 1348 East Forty-eighth street left school at the same time and for the same reasons. The association of Gamma Beta Psi flaunted its existence. Saturday night
the sorority gave a domino dance at the
home of Miss Marjorie Stanton of 4925
Greenwood avenue. Miss Stanton says
she left school rather than tell an un-
truth by denying her allegiance to her
club.

Grandmother Her Champion.
"Marjorie wouldn't tell an untruth,
and so she left school," said her grandmother, Mrs. John B. Wiggins, with whom she lives. "Yes, this a sorority dance if there ever was one."
"Only the members of the sorority are here—that is, with the exception of one girl who is a very dear friend of ours.
The girls wouldn't think of letting any outsiders come. Of course, the sorority is still in existence."

Boys Also Hide.
The boys who were at the dance were also afraid of possible consequences and hid behind their masks.
"Some of the boys still belong to fraternities," said Miss Stanton, as she watched the fancifully dressed couples swaying by. "Some of them are afraid
they would be fired if it became known they attended a sorority dance. You'll have to take them with their masks on, too."

LAYMAN DIES IN PULPIT
ADDRESSING CONGREGATION.
Lafayette Resident, Sounding Farwell to Pastor, Staggered and Falls Lifeless.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 28.—[Special.]—
The congregation of West Lafayette Epistalian church, composed largely of Purdue university professors and students, was horror-stricken tonight when Dr. O. M. Nisley, a dentist, dropped dead in the pulpit. The service was a farewell in honor of the Rev. P. O. Duncan, pastor of the church,
who is to be transferred to Waynetown,
Ind.

Dr. Nisley was speaking for the lay-
men.
"Now, Brother Duncan, you are about
to leave us," he was saying, when suddenly he staggered and fell lifeless.
Many persons rushed forward and his body was carried from the church. The
service closed abruptly.

Town Hall Plan in Pigeon Hole

Association of Commerce
Chief Fights for Bond
Vote at April Polls.

ACTION MUST BE QUICK

Officials of the Association of Commerce were applied yesterday to learn the proposal to build a $1,500,000 municipal convention hall as been buried in the council finance committee.

It was the "commendation of the Association of Commerce, seconded by Mayor Harrison, that a bond issue to construct "the town hall of the nation" at the foot of new recreation pier be submitted to the voters at the April election.
The budget committee of the finance committee held a night session on Friday and voted to exclude this bond issue from those which will be placed on the ballot.
Unless the council reverse the action of the committee members before March 9
the project cannot go to a referendum in April.

Plans Fight for Hall.
Charles L. Dering, president of the Association of Commerce, announced his intention of conferring immediately with Charles H. Hermann, chairman of the local committee, with a view to the revival of the project.

"The Association of Commerce spent two years and a large sum of money on the plan," said Mr. Dering. "It is discouraging to have a really constructive proposal treated in this way, especially when it had the support of business men,
the press, and the public generally."
"Such a town hall would not be a tax on the people, because the returns would more than take care of the interest on the bonds. It would bring hundreds of conventions to the city, and besides being a great municipal institution would stimulate Chicago commerce."

Men Who Held It Up.
The budget committee is composed of Ald. John A. Richard, Lewis D. Sitta, Ellis Geiger, James A. Kearns, and Eugene Block. Ald. Geiger was not present at the midnight session.

"The action was unanimous," said Ald.
Richard. "Ald. Harry E. Little, chairman of the harbor committee, informed the government would not sanction the building of a convention hall as a part of the harbor improvement project."

"In view of the city's limited resources," explained Ald. Block, "I didn't think it wise to construct such a hall by a bond issue. It should be done by private enterprise. The Association of Commerce would be the proper body to finance the undertaking."

Bond Issues on Ballot.
Ordinances for other bond issues will be introduced into the council by Ald.
Richard tonight. These bond issues are:
Sanitation hospital..... $200,000
Reduction plant..... 700,000
Juvenile home at the bridge..... 60,000
Days of the harbor improvement..... 1,500,000
Central police station and courthouse..... 1,500,000
New fire stations and repairs..... 1,100,000
Farm colony and house of shelter..... 200,000
Total..... $4,812,000

Ald. Charles E. Merriam will move to defer the central police station bond issue until the June election.

ADMITTED TO BAR TO STEP INTO HER FATHER'S SHOES.

Miss Alice McClanahan, Daughter of Former Counsel of Big Bank, Passes Tests.

Miss Alice McClanahan, 23 year old daughter of A. A. McClanahan of 3207 Winthrop avenue,
was one of the young women who recently passed the bar examination. Her father for many years was chief counsel for the Commercial and Commercial National bank. When asked why she had chosen
the law profession
Miss McClanahan
said her three brothers had established themselves in business and she wanted
some one to carry on her father's boots.
She, being the only child left, undertook the task. She is a graduate of Lewis
institute and of the Kent College of Law.
She is also a member of the Kappa Delta

INQUIRY TO FOLLOW BLAZE.
Police and Fire Attorney's Office to Investigate H. A. Born &
Co. Conflagration.

The fire attorney's office and the police are making a joint investigation into the origin of a fire, believed to have been incidental, which broke out last night in the factory of H. A. Born & Co., manufacturers of refrigerators, occupying the first floor of a two story brick building at 3301
Shields avenue, last night.

Capt. H. J. Fuchs of engine company
1 asserted that he found several pools of lubricating oil and bunches of oily rags scattered about the rear of the factory.
Henry A. Born, president of the concern, who lives at 3325 Grand boulevard, is out of the city. Mrs. Born could offer no explanation for the fire.

man accosted him.
"I'll pay you $2 if you'll deliver a let-

The boy readily accepted. The man, however, demanded that he give some se-

'BOY EVANGELIST' ADMITS KILLING MAN IN HOLDUP

Sixteen Year Old Elmer Fanter Confesses It Was His First "Stickup."

MOTHER TELLS STORY.

From a street evangelist at the age of 14 to a self-confessed murderer at 16, according to Capt. Samuel Collins of the Chicago avenue station, is the record of Elmer Fanter. Elmer shot and killed a man for interfering in a robbery on the north side.

With youthful bravado yesterday the boy told the police of his first holdup.
Fanter's victim was August Jantzen, a tailor living at 1340 Buring street. He died in the Alexian Brothers' hospital.
Mrs. Diana Hoffman, owner of a deli-catesse store at 1230 Penn street, was the intended victim.

Story of Holdup.
At 6:30 o'clock on the morning of Feb.
24 Fanter entered the delicatessen store and demanded the contents of the cash drawer. He leveled a revolver at the head of Mrs. Hoffman. She screamed.
Jantzen was passing at the time. He saw Miller and Malm standing in front of the store. He brushed past them and entered.
Fanter took a step forward and pulled the trigger of his gun. Jantzen fell to the floor with a bullet just below his heart.
Fanter and his two companions fled.
They took a freight train to DuSable avenue. There they were arrested as vagrants and ordered out of town. They came back to Chicago. Before they had time to carry out their plans for going to the San Francisco fair they were arrested.

Fanter was captured at Sedgwick and Cass streets, two blocks from his home, after a chase of several blocks by Detective Harter and Burns and Policemen
Edward Grim. Nineteen year old Otto Malm and 18 year old Charles Miller escaped the police at that time, but Miller later was arrested under a bed in his home at 321 Schiller street by Policemen Grim and Detective Thomas Magner.

Boy's Mother Sobs Appeals.
In a squall tide three rooms basement at 903 Townsend street a woman with three children gathered around her was sobbing last night. She was Mrs. Anne Fanter, the boy's mother. From time to time her voice would be raised in a piteous appeal to heaven to save her boy.

She told of her struggles to keep her boy in the straight path. She blamed his evil associates and the poolrooms for his downfall. She told of the cold nights he had stood shivering on the street corners and sang, and preached, and earned for himself the title of "boy evangelist." His grandfather, she said, was one of the knowledgable evangelists in Norway.

Her Favorite Child.
"Elmer was my favorite child," she said. "He intended to become a revival-ist, and he would have made a good one.
For years I have begged him and pleaded with him never to do a wrong act. He always was an obedient child until a few months ago."

One night in November Elmer came home from work at the Passavant hospital, where he ran an elevator. On the sidewalk in front of our house he found a boy asleep. He woke him up and carried him into the kitchen.
"The next morning the boy told us he was Otto Malm and had no friends or relatives. I told him he was welcome to stay as long as he pleased and I treated him as a mother. In a few weeks Elmer quit his job. Then he became lazy and wouldn't look for work. Every day he would go out, telling me he was going to the library."

Boys Called for Him.
"At night several boys would call for him. I thought they were all going to the library; but, instead, they were going to poolrooms. I prayed that Elmer would not go wrong. I worked at washing until my back was nearly broken to provide for my little ones until my husband and Elmer could find work."

"Then the awaking came. Detectives came to the house one night and asked me where Elmer was. I was alone and I didn't see him since early morning. I could not answer. Then I knew my fears had been realized. Elmer had done something wrong."

By this time the three children, Della,
who is 20 years old; Fred, 12; Louise, 9;
and Charles, 7, were kneeling on the floor
clinging to their mother's dress and crying. Mrs. Fanter advised all mothers to keep their boys indoors at night.

Why He Shot Man.
Elmer in his confession told why he had killed Jantzen.
"It was my first holdup," he said. "I shot him because I feared he would turn me over to the police. I thought I was thought of being in jail frightened me and I pulled the trigger. I am sorry, but I suppose that don't do any good."
